

Phone scammer says he's a deputy

Thursday, April 17, 2014

Caddo Sheriff Steve Prator says citizens should beware of a man who represents himself as a deputy in a phone scam targeting local residents.

One woman said she was contacted by the man who represented himself as Lt. Chris Jackson with the Caddo Sheriff's Office. The man gave a badge number and said he was with the Warrants Division. He also said he had a warrant for the woman's arrest but would recall the warrant if she would send him $400 on a green dot card. He then gave her a call-back phone number, which has a similar voice recorded message.

Prator said the woman was wise to notify law enforcement and not send money to the caller.

"Never take the call on faith," Prator said. "Hang up and call the Sheriff's Office phone number listed in the phone book to check it out. Never give personal information or money over the phone."
