Thursday, December 15, 2016

The Caddo Sheriff's Office Criminal Investigations Division will hold a jambalaya fundraiser this Saturday, December 17, benefiting baby Rowan Cade Davis. The event will take place from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the parking lot of the Blanchard Wal-Mart, 4701 Northport Blvd.

Rowan was born in September but arrived 17 weeks early, weighing only 1 pound, 2 ounces at birth. She remains in the hospital and continues to grow, but faces many difficulties ahead.

Tickets are $7 and can be pre-purchased by calling CPSO Criminal Investigations at 681-0700 or by stopping by the Detective's Office at 5906 North Market, the CPSO south substation at 9956 Mansfield Road, or the north substation at 11141 Hwy. 1 North in Oil City. Purchases of 10 or more plates can be delivered.

If you would like to support the fundraiser but cannot attend, tickets can be purchased and donated to homeless families with children from the Providence House.

All proceeds from the fundraiser will provide financial support to Rowan's family.
