Caregiver arrested for stealing from elderly victim

Friday, October 2, 2020

A woman who worked as a sitter for the elderly has been arrested on related charges, said Caddo Sheriff Steve Prator.

Conchetta Law, 44, of Longview, Texas, was arrested for Forgery and Exploitation of the Infirmed for stealing $8,900 from the woman she cared for. The victim was 92.

Caddo Sheriff's Det. Jeremy Edward said that between October 2019 and May 2020, while employed as a caregiver in Shreveport, Law stole and forged checks from the victim's bank account to pay her own rent, utilities, insurance, and car note.

Edward obtained an arrest warrant for Law, who was located in Longview and taken into custody. She was extradited back to Caddo Parish and booked into Caddo Correctional Center on October 1.
