UPDATE: Deputy Chris Davis located Wilmer Hill a little over two hours after he was reported missing. His motorized wheelchair got stuck in the woods. Without a cellphone, he was unable to call for help. He was transported to an area hospital to be examined and treated for exposure.

Caddo deputies are seeking the public's help in the search for a Rodessa man who was last seen early Monday morning, said Sheriff Steve Prator.

Wilmer Joseph Hill, 66, was reported missing on Monday. Hill is a black male described as 5-feet-9-inches tall weighing about 200 pounds.

According to a report, Hill was in his home at 5 a.m. Witnesses say they last saw Hill wearing a blue jogging suit while riding in his black and blue motorized wheelchair on Main Street at Pitts Rd. in Rodessa between 5 and 8 a.m.

Hill has a serious medical condition and is scheduled for treatment on Tuesday morning. Anyone with information is asked to call the CPSO Communications Division at (318) 675-2170.
