Jackson faces more charges

Tuesday, August 7, 2012
Eddie Jackson, convicted this past week in the kidnapping of Tracy Winslow and arson of her car, is facing new charges today, said Caddo Sheriff Steve Prator.

Sheriffâ€™s detectives obtained a warrant for Jacksonâ€™s arrest for felony canal knowledge of a juvenile. The victim in that case, which dates back to 1995, was 15 at the time and Jackson was 25.

The arrest warrant was signed on Friday. Jackson appeared in video court on the charge Monday at Caddo Correctional Center. No bond was set on the charge.

Jackson was convicted Friday on one count each of aggravated kidnapping and simple arson in connection with the disappearance of Winslow, his ex-girlfriend. Winslow was 30 years old when she was reported missing in January 2011 after she ended her relationship with Jackson. She hasnâ€™t been seen since.
