Caddo Sheriff recognizes employees

Wednesday, August 29, 2012
Caddo Sheriff Steve Prator promoted three deputies during a ceremony Tuesday at the Northwest Regional Re-entry Facility. Promoted were Brian Wilson, Director of Technical Resources; Pamiko Pinesett, Corrections Sergeant; and Karis Thomas, Jail Records Supervisor.

Wilson is a 19-year employee of the Sheriffâ€™s Office where he has worked as a corrections deputy, a programmer, and co-manager of Technical Resources. Pinesett is a 16-year employee and has worked in Corrections, as a court bailiff, and training sergeant. Thomas has been employed by the Sheriffâ€™s Office for four years and recently served as a jail records technician.

Two deputies were recognized as senior deputies with five years of service. They are Larry Daniel and Yomeka Evans.

Others recognized were LaDonna Thomas for five years of service; Bill Gollmitzer and Carmen Atkins, 10 years; Bradley Acklen, Victor Bordelon, Anthony Gaines Sr., Randal Terrell, Michael Vaitkus, Kimberly Rosborough, and Garladen Story, 15 years; Richard Smith, Roderick Perry, Richard Jennings, Lifford Jackson, and John Hay, 20 years; Mike Gregory and Curtis Carrigan, 25 years; Cynthia Brown, Joe Draper, and Al Newman, 30 years; and Jacqueline Daughtery, executive secretary.
